

HAVE A YARN OVER A COFFEE

Artwork by Keith Brown

Keith Brown was born in 1948 in Guyra, New England Tablelands, New South Wales. His father is from the Ngarabal language group and mother from Biripai language group. He became interested in Aboriginal art later in life, handcrafting boomerangs from elbows in mulga trees and decorated them with Aboriginal artwork. Recently Keith has created large format artworks on canvas. His creations are inspired and influenced by the colours, contours and textures of the land in the north-west and western parts of NSW where he spent his youth.

The Indigenous BioCup is making a difference

In partnership with CorporateConnect.AB (CCAB) and Supply Nation, BioPak now offer a paper coffee cup featuring an Indigenous art design and educational message – perfect for having a yarn over a coffee.

Purchasing this product will directly help CCAB and Supply Nation support Indigenous communities, both urban and rural, by developing practical, innovative and strategic solutions for Indigenous employment and economic advancement.

Their mission is to provide ongoing support to achieve sustainable outcomes. They do this by connecting Australian corporate and government organisations by aligning and facilitating business and community needs with Indigenous business suppliers who are already achieving success or have the potential to develop into vibrant, vital businesses.

It has been six months since the initial launch of the product and current sales are in excess of 200,000 units per month.

BioCups are eco-friendly

Our cups are made from sustainably sourced paper with a bioplastic waterproof lining made from plants not oil. They are also certified carbon neutral.

Support supplier diversity and buy your Indigenous BioCups today in 8oz and 12oz double wall cups.

Corporate Connect.AB

Proud partners

T: 0400 837 874
E: biopak@corporatesocialsynergy.com
www.corporatesocialsynergy.com

CORPORATE SOCIAL SYNERGY

BioPak
It doesn't cost the earth